Createspace, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Charlotte Terhune (illustrator). 203 x 127 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The bay lost her footing and come down on both knees, nearly ousting Leith forward over her head. She came back up on all fours, let out a horrendous squeal and started bucking all over again. Leith took a continuously torturous ride. His body flipped back and forth like a rag doll as the mare took another turn buck-jumping around the corral. His back felt like every vertebra in his backbone had come disassembled. His arms felt like they s been yanked from his body, and his head pounded like a stampede of buffalo were traveling through. Leith felt his senses slipping away. As if the energy plug had suddenly been pulled from the bay, she took one final plunge, then came to a complete halt. Her sides heaving in and out, slobbers stringing from her mouth, her nostrils flaring red and wide, the mare turned her sweaty, frothy head and rolled her dark eyes at her rider as if to say, That s it for today, mister. Now get off. And Leith did just that. Leith and Chad were like brothers, both raised by Leith s widowed father. They got hired on at the Circle R hoping to hone their skills until the time they could start their own ranch. They were naturally competitive and with Chad s temper, there was bound to be a little friction along the way. Being young and good-looking and available, the competition and friction was bound to include some females. One female in particular seemed bent on wreaking chaos. And then there was her sister.and their devious father.and before long the ranch is almost lost and Leith is...
