TheGuideOnTheSide@gmail. com Humanistic education is an alternative approach to education based on the work of humanistic psychologists, most notably Abraham Maslow, who developed a famous hierarchy of needs, Carl Rogers, previous president of the American Psychology Association and Rudolf

Steiner, the founder of Waldorf education. In humanistic education, the whole person, not just the intellect, is engaged in the growth and development that are the signs of real learning. The emotions, the social being, the mind, and the skills needed for a career direction are all focuses of humanistic education. Much of a humanist teachers effort would be put into developing a child's self-esteem. It would be important for children to feel good about themselves (high self-esteem), and to feel that they can set and achieve appropriate goals (high self-efficacy). Procedures are suggested. You can learn more by contacting Dennis Yuzenas
